

Hello! I hope everything is going well for you at Good Shepherd. I am Michael Williams and I am one of the passion collective interns at Grace House this year. I am really excited to be apart and experience what Grace house has to offer to students and the community it is in and around. My part as an intern is to help out and run the food pantry and outreach to communities to connect and support those who need it. As classes and students start to pick up around Tech I am reaching to ask for donations to the food pantry. Both food pantries offer students free food and meals to make sure they get proper nutrition for those who may not have the means to either purchase or support themselves financially to help give them one less thing to worry about on top; of academic needs and school. This year we are partnering with Emory College, Bread House Here is a little bit more about them, What We Do at Bread Coffeehouse. If you have more questions about their food pantry you can email them at eaglefoodpantry@breadcoffeehouse.org. I have attached a list of what donations would be good recommendations that we accept for both of our food pantries. I will be sending updates as we have things coming and going so we do have plenty of one thing over another. If you have questions about specific things I am here for more questions feel free to email me, as well as I would be willing to come to visit and talk to you about the Grace House and our Food pantry as well. Thanks for your time and excited to hear from you!

Thanks again,
Michael Williams
